OBITUARY.

Mrs. Albert Luther.

Saturday afternoon Mrs. Albert Luther of Town street passed from the home and life she had made beautiful here to the larger fellowship of the home and friends in the life beyond. Mrs. Luther was born in Norwich Town, the daughter of John B. and Elizabeth (Davis) Tilden, not far from the house where she spent most of her life. She was a graduate of the Academy, and on Nov. 7, 1868, married Albert Luther of Norwich. The next 15 years were spent in New York after which they returned here. Mrs. Luther caring for her parents until their death. Mr. Luther died in August, 1908.

Her life as a member of the First Congregational church was ever an honor to the Master whom she served. No unkind criticism passed her lips, for in her the promise of Christ was fulfilled, "the spirit of truth dwelleth with and shall be in you." These qualities of character, the peace, the peace of a quiet spirit, patience and strength to meet the strain of toil, the first of care, courage to begin life over again, when she took upon herself the guidance of grandchildren after their mother's death, these are what made to children and grandchildren their home a heaven on earth. To them remain the memory of a mother whose love and devotion inspired in them a love and honor that brightened and blessed her life.

Of the four sons, two survive, Charles T. Luther of Brooklyn, N. Y., and John E. Luther, connected with the United States immigration service in Canada. Albert E. Luther died Feb. 22, 1887, and Alonzo T. Luther Jan. 15, 1912. There are two grandchildren, Philip and Elizabeth Luther, and a niece, Miss Fanny I. Williams, all of Norwich Town.

Last week of great sale

This week closes the most remarkable sale of pianos ever held in this country

The passing of a sale which has raised a new standard of business enterprise and which has attracted nation-wide attention on account of its boldness and liberality

It has been determined to continue this sale up until and including Saturday.

While the instruments which were apportioned to us, in all probability, will not last until Saturday, the sale will be continued until the close of business Saturday night.

Arrangements have been made with the Autopiano Company to this effect.

In other words, we have arranged with the Autopiano Company to secure enough pianos, or player-pianos, or both, to fill all orders taken up to, and including Saturday, over and above what we still have in stock out of our original allotment.

By doing this, every person interested, gets a fair and equal opportunity.

No one can come in Wednesday, for instance, and go away disappointed, because all of a particular style of piano wanted, has been sold. Neither can someone come in Thursday, and find that we have just sold the last player-piano and be disappointed.

Anyone can come in, up to Saturday night at 10 o'clock, and secure the identical style of piano or player-piano he or she may wish. If none remain in stock, unsold, it will be procured for them, which is only right and fair, as every one, in this way, gets an equal opportunity.

This has been the most successful piano sale ever held.

We are bringing our part of the sale to a close, two weeks sooner than expected.

Were we to close the sale, when our original allotment of instruments will have been sold, the sale would close Wednesday or Thursday. But under the arrangements made last week, all orders taken up to and including Saturday of this week, will be filled, at which time the offer will be withdrawn and will not be renewed.

A new low price for high grade pianos, which ceases at the close of this sale Saturday evening

The 250 pianos which made up the main part of this sale, were indeed beautiful pianos. Not only were they pleasing to the eye, but better pianos have never been sold in this section.

These pianos will remain as that many standing advertisements to this house for 20 years to come.

At the price, 266 dollars, they established a new low price standard upon high-grade pianos, which will not be equaled again, in our opinion, in years to come, if ever.

This price will be withdrawn Saturday evening at the close of business.

These terms of payment will be discontinued at that time.

The present price, the present terms of payments, and these most unusual conditions of sale, will be continued throughout this entire week. Should our allotment of 250 pianos be entirely disposed of before the week is over, arrangements have been completed whereby you can get the piano you want, in the style you want, and in the wood you want, up until Saturday night.

Orders taken up until the close of business Saturday night—but no later—will be filled at these prices, these terms, and upon these conditions.

This is a sale you should take advantage of. Come in and convince yourself.

All instruments sold during this sale will be delivered at once. Arrangements may be made, however, to have an instrument set aside, after being selected, to be delivered later.

During this sale, the Piano Department will be opened of evenings by appointment, arrangements for which may be made by calling phone No. 1033-3.

Guarantees delivery of player-piano, even if it becomes necessary to order from the factory

At this writing, it is almost certain that it will be necessary to order player-pianos for those who come in during the last of the week.

The player-pianos have met with deserved but unusual approval. We were wholly unprepared to find the player-pianos selling "neck and neck" with the pianos.

Not that they did not deserve to do so, as we will say again, what we said in the early part of the sale, "The player-piano is the big feature of the sale."

It is the best "buy" of the sale. You get a 550 dollar value for 413 dollars—and what is most important, you are not buying trouble or dissatisfaction, for we know our own previous experience with these identical players, that not one in a hundred require as much as five minutes time or five cents expense in a year's use.

These player-pianos are the feature of the sale, and you should not lose a moment, procuring one, or placing your order AT ONCE.

Taking it all in all, you will never have another such an opportunity.
